WHO WILL BUY THIS BOOK? Lovers of historical fiction or “social” novels; those with an interest in Hull and Lincolnshire

'Readers of the Magic Mooncat will be delighted at this sequel. For those who wondered what happened to Hannah, here is the answer, and for those who have yet to read the Magic Mooncat, this book is utterly enchanting in its own right.' Ann Widdecombe

“Holds one’s attention from beginning to end...a superb sequel to The Magic Mooncat...such depth of feeling bringing the characters to life.” Sue Hodge (Mimi, in Allo Allo)

The story initially focuses on Hannah Clayton’s grandson Leigh in America describing the circumstances of his early years and ultimate orphan status, but it soon settles in to life at Willow Cottage in a small village in Lincolnshire where time unravels to reveal the big picture of Hannah and her extended family, and several generations.

Murder, abduction, and family tragedy mixed with extraordinary psychic happenings and close family bonds give this story a fantastical quality as it follows in the footsteps of The Magic Mooncat. Lois Fenn studies each of the individuals involved in a way that is entertaining and heartfelt, and has a wonderful gift for creating believable characters as she deftly interweaves the threads of this family tale to create a compelling yet comforting picture of rural life through the generations.

THE AUTHOR Lois Fenn is a retired schoolteacher with four children, five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her early years are reflected in the wartime background of both Cobwebs in Time and The Magic Mooncat. She enjoys sharing her poetry and short stories with other Lincolnshire writers. Her current lifestyle in a small village yields her the pleasures of country pursuits, which include art, pottery, gardening, as well as writing. The Magic Mooncat won the David St John Thomas prize for Best Fiction 2003/2004.

Of The Magic Mooncat (978-0-9542884-1-9):

'Compelling Hull saga...convincing characters, intriguing situations and a captivating storyline...a thoroughly recommendable novel.' Hull Daily Mail
